ARCHBISHOP IRELAND'S REPLY.

Responding to the address of the Board of Bishops of the Methodist Episcopal Church issued May 16, Archbishop Ireland has contributed to the forthcoming issue of the North American Review an extended article upon the Methodist Episcopal Church of America in Italy, reviewing the statement of the Methodist bishops and justifying the action of the Vatican in connection with the proposed audience of Theodore Roosevelt.

He quotes extensively from the writings of the Methodist missionaries, bishops and newspapers in Italy attacking the papacy, and sets forth that each visit of a public man of America to the Methodist College in Rome has been seized upon by the local representatives of the Methodist Church as an occasion for insulting the Vatican. He cites the cases of the visits of ex-Mayor Seth Low and Mr. Fairbanks as illustrations.

He claims that the Methodist preachers in Italy are paid higher salaries than those of other denominations; that their work is chiefly confined to proselytizing and that the results have not been at all commensurate with the cost of the work.

In conclusion Archbishop Ireland says:

"The attitude of the Vatican toward the Methodist mission must not be other than what it is. If in this attitude there is intolerance, it is intolerance of vile insult and treacherous fraud. With persons differing from it in creed, honorable in their sincerity and belief and well mannered in their bearing, the Vatican is always most tolerant, most courteous. But as was the Saviour himself so is the Vatican, severe and intolerant when confronted by the Pharisee and the money-changers of the Temple."

MURDER AND SUICIDE.

Anna Sutter, the leading singer in the royal opera at Stuttgart, was shot and killed yesterday in Berlin by Dr. Alois Obrist, a former conductor of the opera Dr. Obrist then shot himself dead.

Obrist visited Fraulein Sutter's flat at 10 o'clock yesterday morning carrying a large bouquet. A maid servant told him that her mistress was in bed and could not see him. Obrist replied that he could not wait and must see Fraulein Sutter. He pushed the girl aside and went to the bedroom.

Fraulein Sutter was asleep. Obrist did not awaken her, but fired two shots from a revolver at her, the bullets penetrating her breast. The woman gave a scream, half rose, and then sank back on her pillow, dead. Obrist fired three shots into his own chest and died instantly. A second loaded revolver was found in one of his pockets.

Fraulein Sutter is variously stated to have been between 35 and 41 years old. She was born in Switzerland. She was a great popular favorite, and her male admirers were many. She was not married, but was the mother of two children, who usually accompanied her on the streets.

Obrist was 42 years old. He became enamored of Fraulein Sutter, who apparently did not discourage him. When he left Stuttgart three years ago he obtained Fraulein Sutter's promise to marry him if he were able to divorce his wife. He returned to Stuttgart last September, having in the meantime obtained a divorce and claimed the fulfillment of the promise.

It is stated that Fraulein Sutter had found a more attractive lover in a young opera singer, and that she rebuffed Obrist. His unwelcome attentions became publicly notorious. Finally, jealousy and despair impelled him to murder and suicide.

FIVE MEN KILLED.

Five men were killed and three more or less seriously injured as a consequence of a passenger train coming at top speed yesterday morning upon a gang of eleven carpenters engaged in making repairs to a trestle of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad over the Falls road, a short distance north of Mount Royal station, near Baltimore. It is said that the passenger train gave no warning of its approach.

By far the most striking act of the tragedy was the desperate attempt of two men to save their lives by clinging to the pilot of the locomotive. One of them—Frank Ray—was successful, the other is one of three men who were carried bare down upon them they looked up too late to escape. On one side was a long freight train, while the sheer drop to the Maryland and Pennsylvania tracks yawned at their left. It was a case of quick choice. Both leaped a the same instant, trying to gain the engine pilot. Their hands caught the bars, slipped a few inches, then held. With their legs beating the ties they were dragged along in temporary safety, hoping their grip would hold out until the brakes bit the flanges of the wheels and the locomotive came to a stop.

WIFE KILLS HUSBAND.

W. Arlington Morgan, a farmer, at Burrsville, a village on the Delaware line five miles from Denton, Md., was shot and instantly killed by his wife at 7 o'clock yesterday evening.

The killing was before one of the three little children of the couple and is supposed to have resulted from a family quarrel.

Morgan had come into the house from the hayfield a few minutes before. He and his wife were on the second floor it is said, when Mrs. Morgan shot him in the throat with a single-barreled shotgun.

Death was instantaneous. The load tore a great hole in the man's throat, and when neighbors rushed in he was in a pool of blood.

The woman was frantic and her only connected expressions were of sorrow and grief.

It is reported that Morgan had knocked his wife down before the shooting. The couple had lived rather happily together, but frequently quarreled.

Morgan, say the neighbors, was not a drinking man, never having been seen under the influence of liquor. He was about 32 years old.
